NOTES IN SEASON.

THE H. B. CLAFLIN Co. has purchased from De Wolfe, Fiske & Co. their whole output, and will handle exclusively all their publications for the present year. The purchase includes several new series of juveniles and board books. The trade is requested to order these lines from the H. B. Clafin Co. direct.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready a volume entitled "The American Business Woman, a guide for the investment, preservation and accumulation of property, with full explanations and illustrations of all necessary methods on business," by John Howard Cromwell; "Medical and Surgical Nursing," a treatise on modern nursing from the physician's and surgeon's standpoint, edited by Dr. H. J. O'Brien; also, "The Secret of the Crater (a Mountain Moloch,)" by Duffield Osborne.

THE NEW YORK LABOR NEWS COMPANY have just issued a second 10,000 of "The Story of the Bull Pen," by Thomas A. Hickey, giving an insight into the conditions of the labor party in Wardner, Idaho, especially. This should make a timely and stirring campaign document. They have also added to The People Library "Development of Socialism From Utopia to Science," by Frederick Engels, translated by Daniel De Leon; and "The Class Struggle," by Karl Kantsky, also translated and adapted by De Leon.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish in August the second volume in their series of The Best Novels at Popular Prices, "The Woman Intervenes," by Robert Barr, a delightful story of a modern woman journalist, who goes to England and introduces the most advanced journalistic methods there. Other volumes selected for this series—of which Alfred Henry Lewis's "Wolfville" was the first—are Besant's "The Master Craftsman"; Le Queux's "Zoraïda"; and Robert W. Chambers's "Ashes of Empire."

THE GEO. M. HILL Co., Chicago, published June 9 the "Songs of Father Goose." This book is composed of 26 "Father Goose" rhymes set to music by Mrs. Alberta N. Hall, of Chicago, and accompanied by forty pictures by W. W. Denslow. The book seems bound to be as big a success as was its parent, "Father Goose: His Book," issued last September. The Hill Co. state that nearly 2000 copies of "The Songs of Father Goose" were sold during the first week of publication. This house has in press "The Army Alphabet" and "The Navy Alphabet," two books of rhymes by L. Frank Baum with pictures in four colors by Harry Kennedy, a young artist of Chicago. These publications will be issued September 1. For the "Wonderful Wizard of Oz," also to be published September 1, orders for nearly the entire first edition of 10,000 copies have already been booked. A second edition of 25,000 impressions is now being sent to press.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready "A History of Education," by Thomas Davidson, author of "Aristotle and the Ancient Educational Ideals," "Rousseau and Education According to Nature," etc. The author presents education as the last and highest form of evolution—that great process which includes both nature and culture. The immanent purpose of education the author thinks is to make free individuals and moral personalities and he shows the steps by which this should be brought about. They will publish on the 29th inst. three other educational books, as follows: "Elementary Physical Geography," an outline of physiography, by Jacques W. Redway, with illustrations, maps, charts, and diagrams; "A General History of Europe, 300-1900," by Oliver J. Thatcher and Ferdinand Schwill, of the University of Chicago; also, "The Howells Story Book," a collection of W. D. Howells' stories for young children, arranged by Mary E. Burt, and illustrated by Miss Howells, a new volume in Scribner's Series of School Reading.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Brady, Cyrus Townsend. Stephen Decatur. Bost., Small, Maynard & Co., 1900. c. 18+142 p. T. (Beacon biographies.) cl., 75 c.

Stephen Decatur was the most conspicuous figure in the naval history of the United States for the hundred years between Paul Jones and Farragut. For an accurate presentation of his life the author has drawn freely upon all available sources of information, including many manuscripts, letters, and other interesting matter in the possession of his descendants and in the library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Brinkerhoff, Roeliff. Recollections of a lifetime. Cin., O., Robert Clarke Co., 1900. c. 13+448 p. por. O. cl., $2.

During the eventful years of the last half century

*In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

the author was active and prominent in many ways, as educator, lawyer, editor, soldier, statesman, and philanthropist. In 1861, when the war broke out, he entered the army, and for five full years was an officer in the Quartermaster's department, at the front, and at important stations west and east, and when the war closed he was on duty at Washington City. Among his close friends were Salmon P. Chase, James G. Blaine, General Garfield, and General R. B. Hayes, all of whom occupy a prominent place in these recollections.

Brooks, Sarah Warner. Poverty Knob. N. Y., A. Wessels Co., 1900. c. 4+207 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Short stories: Poverty Knob; The man on High Island; A haunted ruin; Captain White's assistant; Ramon's The tramp from Bar Harbor; Flotsam of the Line storm.

Brown, W. B., D.D. The problem of final destiny: studied in the light of revised theological statements. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1900. c. 5-319 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Author is pastor-emeritus of the First Congregational Church, Newark, N. J. He says: "In the summer of 1897, I came clearly to see that the problem of man's destiny was closely interlinked with every one of the great doctrines of the Christian faith, and must be studied in connection with them, each throwing such light upon the future life as it naturally contained. I seemed to see that if these gleams of light, from many sources, could be gathered into a common centre, they might disclose the right solution of man's destiny. . . . I saw the necessity of revising, and at times almost revolutionizing, some venerable theological conclusions, chiefly along metaphysical lines."

Butler, N: Murray, ed. Education in the United States: a series of monographs prepared for the United States exhibit at the Paris Exposition, 1900. Albany, N. Y., J. B. Lyon Co., 1900. c. 2 v., 18+464; 3+977 p. O. cl., $3.50.

From the Rev. Ja. P. Smith's "Memorial," we learn that W: S. Lacy was born in Raleigh, N. C. March 25, 1842; he first served in the ranks of the Confederate army, and was afterward chaplain of the 47th N. C. Regiment of Infantry. After the war he became the pastor of the Anchor of Hope and Cove Churches in Southwestern Va.; he returned however, to N. C. in 1873, and in 1888 accepted the call of the Second Presbyterian Church of Norfolk, Va. Two addresses and twelve sermons are given in this volume.

An account of the author's personal experiences, observations, and studies in Central and South America, and more particularly in the republics of Colombia and Venezuela, during the period of twenty-seven years, from 1872 to 1899. The greater part of this time he was U. S. Minister to Colombia and Venezuela. Besides descriptions of climatic conditions, scenery, etc., there are chapters on: The agricultural products of Venezuela; On the Guayana boundary question; The Isthmus of Panama, and Panama Canal projects; The rights and duties of foreign residents in South America; The Monroe doctrine; and The Venezuelan arbitration award of 1899.

Sergeant, Adeline. A rise in the world: a novel. N. Y., F. M. Buckles & Co., 1900. c. 377 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The story of a young man of good family who marries a nursery maid. She is very young and ignorant, with some strong natural and very noble traits and virtues. The young man's mother takes her into her home and trains and educates her, while the husband goes to fill a position in India. The story relates to her treatment, by other members of her husband's family, her final development into a beautiful cultured woman, her husband's supposed death, and her love for another man.

Formerly published by Cassell Publishing Co.

Thomas, Lawrence Buckley, D.D. The Thomas book giving the genealogies of Sir Rhys ap Thomas, K. G., the Thomas family descended from him, and of some allied families. New issue. [N. Y., G. E. Stechert, 1900.] Regular ed., 21+627 p. il. O. buckram, $4.50; Large-pap. ed., hf. mor., $6.

"The Thomas book" was first published in 1896, but just after it was ready the firm publishing it failed, and only a few copies were distributed and those by subscription. It contains distinct pedigrees of 60 Thomas families and over 100 other names, each one arranged as a continuous history. Among special features will be found the history and ancestry of the celebrated Sir Rhys Ap Thomas, K. G., of Wales; many pedigrees of English Barons, from whom the American families descend, a biographical dictionary of 500 persons of the name of Thomas (not included in the pedigrees) many of them early emigrants to America, a very full list of those who held commissions or were privates in the American Revolution, a collection of Virginia Colonial land grants with notes by R. A. Brock; an account of the origin of steam railroads in America, a unique ecclesiastical genealogy of the author, and incidentally the disproof of many genealogical fables, e.g., the true English ancestry of the well-known Lawrence family is given for the first time.

Tiernan, Mrs. Frances C. Fisher, ["Christian Reid," pseud.] Weighed in the balance. Bost., Marlier, Callanan & Co., [1900.] c. '99, 1900. 5+500 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A fortune, to which there are several claimants, is the chief theme. The heroine is a young girl reared with the loftiest ideals, who finds, when brought into contact with the world, that its motives and standards are in direct contradiction to her own.

The development of her character under the influence of love, sorrow, and disappointment forms the basis of an interesting psychological study. Glimpses of the better side of Bohemian life in Paris, and of American society, lend color to the narrative.

*Todd, Mabel Loomis. Total eclipses of the sun. New ed. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1900. 273 p. 16°, cl., $1.

Webster, H: Kitchell. The banker and the bear; the story of a corner in lard. N. Y., Macmillan, 1900. c. 3+351 p. S. cl., $1.50.

The scene of this extensive produce gambling would seem to be Chicago. Gives the details of the operations by which fortunes are won and lost, and shows the private, personal motives upon which the most far-reaching transactions depend. Author was joint author of "The short line war."

*Whitlock, W: T: Santa Teresa, and other selections: tales from Town Topics. N. Y., Town Topics Pub. Co., 1900. c. 247 p. 12°, (Tales from Town Topics, no. 35.) pap., 50 c.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 23, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE APPLETON REORGANIZATION PLAN.

THE failure of the Appleton house, following immediately upon the Harper failure, and to some extent a consequence of it, gave a shock to public and especially to fiscal confidence in the publishing trade, now happily allayed by the fact that no other house has been obliged to follow these examples, notwithstanding the natural hesitancy to supply capital or discount paper after two such occurrences within the trade. The financial error which caused the fall of the Appleton house, for so many years sharing with the Harpers the honorable headship of the trade, was quite different from the Harper mistake in policy. The Appleton house, it is understood, had developed its business, of late years, largely on the line of books sold by installments—on the modern method of supplying all the books of a set on payment of the first installment, a method which, while giving adequate security for future installment payments in the books themselves as sold at a good profit, required an enormous outlay in manufacture. The Appleton house had not provided capital adequate for this large reliance on future payments, and consequently was a large borrower through the banks. When the Harper failure made the banks distrustful of publishers' paper the Appletons found their lines of discount suddenly limited. Under these circumstances suspension seemed to them the only possible course, and thus within a half year two of the oldest and most honored houses, the very leaders of the trade, have been compelled to suspend payment and reorganize their affairs.

The Reorganization Committee has now presented its plan, looking to the merger in one corporation of the Appleton house proper, the plant of the Appleton Manufacturing Company, and the capital stock of the Johnson Encyclopædia concern, of which the Appletons hold 85 per cent. The assets are valued by experts whose names command respect, at over $3,200,000, while the liabilities are under $1,400,000. Of these assets, one-fourth are in plates, as valued, and it is understood that these have been written down, partly in due course by the house itself in previous years, and partly under the receivership, from an original cost of at least three million dollars. The margin of assets over liabilities seems to be ample. It is proposed that an underwriting syndicate, taking short time notes, shall provide $250,000 cash, which with $250,000 more in hand and coming due to the receiver and $200,000 from other sources will provide for preference obligations—taxes, wages, interest, royalties, supply accounts, etc.—of $176,000, for a payment of 25 per cent. cash to note creditors (the banks) and for working capital. The other 75 per cent. will be paid in 6 per cent. negotiable gold notes, secured by general mortgage, these to run for three years and be renewable for two years, at option, if within the three years 60 per cent. of the debt shall be paid. Of these, sufficient will be issued to secure this 75 per cent. and the syndicate and other advances, and the balance out of a total of $1,400,000, will be held for issue in case further capital should be found desirable.

The capital stock is to be $3,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be held in trust for the present stockholders of the concern, chiefly the Appletons themselves, until the new obligations are discharged and a permanent organization finally effected. It is not stated whether the balance of $1,000,000 is to remain as treasury stock, or how it is to be allotted. It is understood that Mr. William W. Appleton will be the President of the new company, and Mr. James G. Cannon, Vice-president of the Fourth National Bank, Chairman of the Board of Directors, with oversight of the financial arrangements of the house.

The one question to be considered in a reorganization of this sort, provided the arrangements with present creditors are satisfactory, is whether sufficient working capital for the needs of the business is provided for the future. This is an especially important consideration in the case of a business built upon the installment plan of immediate investment and future payments. It is expected that the new plan will result in providing amply for such working capital and will put the old house on a new and permanent basis, without such divorce of the new from the old management as was insisted upon by the Reorganization Committee in the case of the Harper house. Both plans are drastic, as all reorganization plans are apt to be, and it is to be regretted that it has been necessary to bring into the publishing trade the reorganization methods with which the public has become only too familiar in railroad relations.

MISS MITFORD'S COPY OF MOTHERWELL'S POEMS.

A BOOK WITH A STORY.

IN that charming volume of autobiographic incident and keen appreciation of the beautiful in poetry, in prose, and in scenery, and showing such warmth in many friendships: "Recollections of a Literary Life; or Books, Places, and People," Mary Russell Mitford says:

"As with 'Percy's Reliques' my own copy of Motherwell has to me an interest beside that of its high literary merits. If I would explain the source of that interest, I must tell the story, luckily a very short one.

Three years ago a friend, to whom I owe a thousand obligations of all sorts and kinds, posted London over to procure this volume. Now my friend is a man of book-shops and book-stalls, but only one copy could he meet with, and that was neither Scotch nor English, but American, from the great Boston publishers, Ticknor & Company. The book became immediately a favorite, and was laid on the table, a phrase which in my little drawing-room has a very different sense from that which it bears in the House of Commons.

"One fine summer afternoon, shortly after I had made this acquisition, two young Americans made their appearance, with letters of introduction from some honored friends. There was no mention of profession or calling, but I soon found that they were not only men of intelligence and education, but of literary taste and knowledge; one especially had the look, the air, the conversation of a poet. We talked on many subjects, and got at last to the delicate question of American reprints of English authors; on which, much to their delight, and a little to their surprise, there was no disagreement; I for my poor part pleading guilty to the taking pleasure in such a diffusion of my humble works. 'Beside,' continued I, 'you send us better things—things otherwise unattainable. I could only procure the fine poems of Motherwell in this fine Boston edition.' My two visitors smiled at each other. 'This is a most singular coincidence,' cried the one whom I knew by instinct to be a poet. 'I am a younger partner in this Boston house, and at my pressing instance this book was reprinted. I cannot tell you how pleased I am to see it here!'

"Mr. Fields's visit was necessarily brief; but that short interview has laid the foundation of a friendship which will, I think, last as long as my frail life, and of which the benefit is all on my side. He sends me charming letters, verses which are fast ripening into true poetry, excellent books, and this autumn he brought back himself, and came to pay me a visit; and he must come again, for of all the kindnesses with which he loads me, I like his company best."

The full measure of the association of her copy of "Motherwell" with Miss Mitford's life when she classes it with her "Percy's Reliques" will be more apparent from the following charming bit, also from her "Recollections":

"As from three years old I grew to four or five," she says, "I learned to read them (The 'Percy' ballads) myself, the book became the light of my childhood, as it is now the solace of my age. Ah, well-a-day! sixty years have past, and I am an old woman, whose nut brown hair has turned to white; but I never see that heavily-bound copy of 'Percy's Reliques' without the home of my infancy springing up before my eyes."

It was on the 26th day of August, 1847, at noon, that the writer's very genial, very cultivated friend, the late James T. Fields, and he left London for a hurried trip, first to the west and thence to the north of England, into Scotland, preparatory to sailing from Liverpool, for home early in September. Their first stop was at Reading, where they arrived in about an hour and a quarter. There they took a "fly" for Three Mile Cross, the village in which was the modest home of Miss Mitford.

Arriving about 2 o'clock and finding Miss Mitford temporarily engaged they left their credentials, the best of all being a letter of introduction from her valued personal and literary friend, John Kenyon; took a brief saunter in that favorite lane, the charms of which she has so lovingly described; and back once more to "the dear old house."

There was found a royal, an earnest, heart-whole reception and they were at once made to feel as though they were in the presence of a friend of years, not of an acquaintance of minutes. Miss Mitford has well described the visit and especially the happy incident of Motherwell's "Poems." Being the younger of the two visitors, the part played by the writer of this was quite modest and subordinate. Mr. Fields, several years the senior, with much that was choicest and best in English literature, and its authors, to him as "familiar as household words," almost instantly made captive the heart of Mary Russell Mitford and then and there was laid the foundation broad and deep of a friendship and a memory that only ceased when the last of these two congenial souls had ceased to live.

The curious, and to the writer interesting, sequel to this story is, that quite by the accidental examination of a second-hand book catalogue of a Canadian bookseller, this identical copy of "Motherwell," with Miss Mitford's autograph on the title-page, and her marks for the selection of poems for her "Recollections," has recently, after more than half a century, come into his possession. And it will ever remain a precious memorial of that long past August day which saw the beginning of the beautiful friendship between Mary Russell Mitford and James T. Fields, each a more than worthy votary of the intellectual life.

HENRY CAREY BAIRD.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14, 1900.

D. APPLETON & CO.'S PLANS FOR REORGANIZING.

THE Reorganization Committee of D. Appleton & Co., represented by James G. Cannon, Vice-President of the Fourth National Bank; A. D. Juilliard of A. D. Juilliard & Co., Edmund C. Converse, President of the National Tube Company; Warner Van Norden, President of the National Bank of North America, and Charles Hathaway of Charles Hathaway & Co., and Sullivan & Cromwell, counsel, on June 18 announced the plans for reorganizing and continuing the business of D. Appleton & Co.

William Nelson Cromwell, counsel to the committee, stated that the assets comprise the business of D. Appleton & Co., the lands and printing establishment of the Appleton Manufacturing Company, 85 per cent. of the capital stock of the A. J. Johnson Company, being "Johnson's Universal Encyclopedia." The business of D. Appleton & Co. has continued without a break for seventy-five years, and its operations extend throughout the world. It owns outright "Appleton's American Encyclopedia" and various other books and publications, besides thousands of copyrights. Its stereotype and electrotype book plates number over 1,000,000; its installment contracts with subscribers to its publications number over 100,000.

The committee has supported their valuation, and examination by the expert opinions of A. O. Kittredge, certified public accountant, as to all matters of account; George Haven Putnam and Irving Putnam of G. P. Putnam's Sons, as to the valuation of the stereotype and electrotype book plates; Richard V. Harnett and A. B. Gritman, real estate experts, as to the value of the real estate, and by Oscar Roesen of R. Hoe & Co., as to the value of the printing machinery and equipment. The committee finds that the assets exceed $3,200,000, itemized as follows:

Realty, Brooklyn Plant.....	$195,000
Equipment, Brooklyn Plant.....	162,920
Plates, Etc.....	853,909
Stock (Books and Sheets).....	463,631
Paper and Supplies.....	113,453
Installment Accounts.....	936,311
Advance Payments to Authors.....	34,607
Accounts Receivable.....	173,466
Cash.....	31,571
A. J. Johnson Co. Interest.....	239,915

The plan of reorganization provides for the unifying of title and ownership of the three business establishments into the new corporation of D. Appleton & Co.

Six per cent. negotiable gold notes to the amount of $1,400,000 will be issued, interest payable semi-annually and secured by general mortgage upon all the fixed property. More than one-half of these notes will be delivered to creditors, in addition to 25 per cent. in cash. These notes will run for three years, upon the condition that they may be renewed for the additional period of two years, if within the first mentioned period 60 per cent. of the debt shall be paid.

Syndicate notes for $250,000 will be issued, running for a short period, and will be sold to the underwriting syndicate for the cash purposes of the plan.

The capital stock will be $3,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be delivered to the present stockholders of D. Appleton & Co.

upon full payment of the new obligations, and in the meantime will be held in trust by James G. Cannon, William Nelson Cromwell, A. D. Juilliard, Edmund C. Converse, and J. Hampden Dougherty, as trustees, to secure the further payment of the new obligations and also to vote thereon for such persons constituting a majority of the board of the new company as they shall deem advisable, and for such persons constituting a minority of the board as shall be nominated by the present stockholders of D. Appleton & Co. The $1,000,000 stock not held by the Appletons is to be used for "such disposition as the reorganization committee may find advantageous in the execution of the plan, including expenses of reorganization." Under the head of current assets the committee purposely allowed nothing for "good will," which oftentimes receives generous recognition in reorganization schemes.

General creditors are to be paid 25 per cent. in cash and 75 per cent. in the 6 per cent. negotiable mortgage gold notes.

The preferred obligations, such as taxes, wages, interest on mortgages, royalties, etc., amounting to $176,698.78, are to be paid in full.

A cash working capital of $250,000 is to be provided.

It is believed that William W. Appleton will be made president of the new company, and James G. Cannon, chairman of the Board of Directors.

A reasonable time for realizing upon the slow assets, without impairment of operations, is thus afforded for the benefit of the creditors, and the business and organization is strengthened by the association of business advisers.

By legal proceedings, simultaneously conducted in the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, and California, all the properties have been placed under uniform receiverships, with J. Hampden Dougherty as the principal receiver, and, upon application of counsel, the Court has authorized the continuance of the business in the interim; so that the business has been conducted without interruption and the good will and connections preserved.

FATE OF THE WAR BOOKS.

A PUBLISHER recently confided to a New York Sun reporter the information that, with a few notable exceptions, the books on the Spanish-American war published during the past year "met a dead frost." "Looking backward," this publisher said, he "can see the reasons for their failure. Looking forward, I couldn't. I'm not the only publisher in that fix. Our literary judgment was all right, but our estimate of conditions and public sentiment was wrong. Some of the writers made fair money—the men who sold their books outright, that is. They were on the market. Their reputations were excellent. Most of them had already written good war stories for journals and magazines and attracted public attention. We publishers thought they were safe propositions and bid against each other—to the benefit of the writers and our own subsequent discomfiture.

"I suppose that the four most successful books—successful from the publishers' point of view, were those by Richard Harding Davis, Roosevelt, Hobson and Sigsbee, and I fancy they sold just about in that order. We didn't publish any of them, so I can speak without prejudice. Davis's popularity with a certain class of readers and his literary instinct gave him his lead. Roosevelt's popularity and brains were sure to give him a hearing. Hobson and Sigsbee had won public attention to an exaggerated degree. Hobson's book would have had a very good run, if he hadn't killed himself and everything connected with him, by that Kissing Bee.

"The human note was what the public wanted. The writers who recognized that fact got the public ear. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred didn't care an atom about the strategical conduct of the war or the weighty questions involved in it, but they were absorbingly interested in individual dramatic experiences. They didn't want to know about the movements of great bodies of men. They wanted to know how one man behaved, how he fought and suffered and laughed and groaned and won or died. Realism—that's the thing the people who stayed at home craved, and realism is individual, not general. Davis and Roosevelt saw that little fact and their books sold. A good many newspaper men and writers of magazine articles—the two were identical in this case—grasped that fact too.

"The really successful war books, if you count success in dollars, have been the juveniles. Every writer for boys knows that he skips the descriptions and the technical discussions, so the men who wrote war stories for boys, gave them individual dramatic action—just what the big children wanted, you see.

"As for the men who think they can sell war books now—well, they'd better keep the attempt in reserve for dog days. It will cool off the temperature for them."

Punch thus satirizes the slump in war stories:

SCENE: A publisher's sanctum. To its occupant enter Author.

PUBLISHER: Glad to see you, but thought we had better talk it over. You know our interests are identical. And really it won't do.

AUTHOR: What won't do?

PUBLISHER: Why, your last story. It's quite excellent—like all your work—but really the public don't want any more warrior heroes. and, what's more, won't have them.

AUTHOR: Well, I will change my warrior hero into a curate working in the slums.

PUBLISHER: I think that would be much more satisfactory. But then there are the battle scenes—most vivid and admirable in every way—but unsalable.

AUTHOR: I can easily cut those out. I will work in views of Lloyd's and the Stock Exchange in their place.

PUBLISHER: Yes, I think that would be—if you allow me to say so—a decided improvement. Then, how about that incident of the escape from the burning fort?

AUTHOR: Not in the least essential to the story. I will substitute a picnic in the hay-fields—just as interesting.

PUBLISHER: Quite so. And the chapter about the raid?

AUTHOR: That can come out in favor of a description of a boot manufactory. Can I do anything else?

PUBLISHER: Well, your title was first rate, but under the circumstances I think it would be better altered. "The Cannon's Mouth"—

AUTHOR: Shall it be changed to "Laura's Love Story?"

PUBLISHER: Excellent! With those modifications we should hit the taste of the public.

[Curtain falls upon a scene of mutual satisfaction.]

MAINE THE PULP AND PAPER STATE.

THE name of the Pine Tree State, according to a Bangor (Me.) correspondent of the New York Sun, long ago ceased to be an appropriate designation for Maine, for it is nearly forty years since the pine has played any considerable part in the State's commerce or industry, spruce having taken its place. And now it is no longer true to say that the sawing of logs into lumber is Maine's greatest industry, for that, also, is a past glory, and Maine is to-day the pulp and paper state. New York stands first in the production of pulp and paper at this time, but in 1901, Maine, now second in the list, will become the first State in the Union in the extent and value of its pulp and paper industries.

Last winter about 550,000,000 feet of logs were cut in the woods of Maine, and of this vast quantity the pulp mills will consume at least one-half, dividing the crop about evenly with the sawmills. Next year the pulp mills will require 350,000,000 feet of logs, so that if the sawmills are to continue the present output the log crop must be more than 600,000,000 feet. The ever-increasing demand for logs to supply pulp mills has caused alarm lest the forests of the State may be destroyed, but Austin Cary, the leading expert in forestry, says that there is standing in the State to-day not less than 25,000,000,000 feet of spruce, and that the annual growth is equal to 600,000,000 feet, or just enough to offset the estimated consumption, allowing 350,000,000 feet annually for pulp and 250,000,000 feet for lumber.

There are now in operation in Maine mills producing 1835 tons of pulp and paper daily, the output of white newspaper being about 475 tons. This paper capacity will be increased next year by the completion of plants now in process of construction to about 600 tons daily, while the aggregate production of pulp and paper combined will be increased to 2500 tons. This will make Maine first in the industry, New York second, with Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Ohio following in the order named.

Including the mills now in process of erection, there is invested in the pulp and paper industry in Maine about $30,000,000. Six thousand hands are now employed, with a payroll for labor (salaries of officers not included) of about $15,000 a day. Next year the number of hands will be 7000 and the payroll $17,500 a day. The logs consumed this year will cost $2,500,000, and the product will be worth $18,000,000. Next year more than $3,000,000 worth of logs will be needed, and they will be turned into pulp and paper worth $20,000,000.

One of the mills now being erected is the largest in the world. It is at Millinocket, seventy-five miles north of Bangor, and will cost $4,000,000, will be 900 feet long and 450 feet wide, employ 500 men, use 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 feet of logs and burn 50,000 tons of coal annually, and turn out at first 450,000 pounds of white newspaper daily, which can be increased to 850,000 pounds.

OBITUARY NOTES.

DAVID DWIGHT WELLS, the talented author of "Her Ladyship's Elephant," "His Lordship's Leopard," etc., died unexpectedly, after a brief illness, June 15, at his home in Norwich, Conn. He was born April 22, 1868, at Norwich, Conn., and was the son of the late David A. Wells, the eminent economist, who died two years ago. He was graduated from Harvard University, with honorable mention in English literature, in 1893. In 1893 and 1894 he wrote stories and articles for various magazines and papers. Appointed by President Cleveland as second secretary for the United States Embassy at London, in July, 1894, he held that position till October, 1896, resigning at that time, and returning to America. Since then he has been engaged in literary pursuits. "Her Ladyship's Elephant," his first novel, appeared in 1898, and reached its tenth edition. His second book, "His Lordship's Leopard," was published in April of this year and rapidly went into a third edition.

THE death is reported of Richard M. Wanzer, an old time Rochester (N. Y.) bookseller, of the firm of Wanzer, Beardsley & Co.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

HECTOR MACPHERSON is at work on a biographical and critical study of David Hume.

SIR WALTER BESANT has a book in preparation which deals with East London in the way he has already dealt with the City, Westminster, and South London.

MISS OLIVE GARNETT, whose book, "Petersburg Tales," is about to be published in this country by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., is a daughter of Richard Garnett, some time keeper of printed books in the British Museum.

PAUL LEICESTER FORD is engaged upon a new story to be entitled "Wanted, a Watchmaker," a Christmas tale, with illustrations in color by H. C. Christy and decorations by Miss Armstrong. The book will be published in time for the holiday trade by Dodd, Mead & Co.

RUDYARD KIPLING has written for the London Daily Express a series of stories based upon his experiences during his recent visit to South Africa. These stories will present, under the guise of fiction, phases of the administration and the actual conduct of the war which Mr. Kipling felt he could not embody in the letters which he sent home.

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS is at work on two new books. The first is entitled "The Olympian Nights," in which a purely human being finds himself on Mount Olympus in the company of the gods now fallen from their high estate and languishing under nineteenth century conditions. The other is "A History of the Twentieth Century." Both will be published serially. Mr. Bangs is still working on his opera libretto, in twelve chapters, for Harper's Magazine, the first of which has already been published. He is also writing an article for one of the leading American monthlies on the most popular books of the last five years.

JUSTIN MCCARTHY in The Independent says of Dr. Barry, whose "Arden Massiter" has just made its appearance, that the author of "The New Antigone," which made a distinct sensation in the literary world twelve years ago, "is a Roman Catholic priest who has mixed more in the world of politics and society than most English Catholic priests have done, and has studied deeply and travelled much. He is a man whom one meets a good deal in London, and who is appreciated in many circles where his religious opinions would not of themselves be likely to secure him a welcome in advance. Not many clergymen of Dr. Barry's faith have, in our times at least, ventured to become workers in the field of romance, and this is Dr. Barry's third novel. 'Arden Massiter' has already received some most eulogistic reviews, and the critic in Punch has described it as a work of genius. It is a story about the Italy of today, but its interest is chiefly centred in modern Rome and the castle in the mountains of an ancient Italian family, whose memories and traditions carry us back into far distant years, and into the struggles and tragedies of an Italy in which Petrarch and Rienzi had not yet come up."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

RAOUL RENAULT, Quebec, has just issued the first number of North American Notes and Queries to which we called attention some weeks ago. The issue is dated June, and contains articles on "Canada's First Boy," "The Acadians in Louisiana," "Where Wolfe and Montcalm Fell," with plan and facsimile reproductions, and "An Episode of the Invasion of Canada in 1775." The departments are entitled Notes and News, Curiosa, Notes and Queries, and New Important Books. A portrait of Admiral Edward Boscawen forms the frontispiece.

THE Associazione Tipografica Libreria Italiana, of Milan, makes the welcome announcement of the projected publication of a "Catalogo Generale della Libreria Italiana dal 1847 al tutto il 1899," embracing, in one author alphabet, the publications from 1847 to 1899, including also Italian books printed or published outside of Italy. A subject index is to follow. The title entries will give place of publication, the publisher's name, date, size, and, so far as possible, number of pages, and price. The catalogue has been compiled and edited by Attilio Pagliani, the competent librarian of the University of Genoa, and will be issued in monthly parts of 80 quarto pages each, double columns, 83 lines to the column, clear print and good paper, at 75 cents each part. The work is expected to contain about 2500 pages. Orders may be placed with Lemcke & Buechner, 812 Broadway, New York, who have preëempted a large share of the edition.

M. SPIRGATIS, Leipzig, has just issued No. 13 of the Sammlung Bibliotheks- Wissenschaftlicher Arbeiten, edited by Professor Karl Dziatzko, of Göttingen. The number forms the fifth part of the "Beiträge zur Kenntniss des Schrift- Buch- und Bibliothekswesens," and contains the following contributions: "Zur alt preussischen Buchdrucker-geschichte, 1492-1523, a second article on the subject by P. Schwenke; "Die Adam Gelthus'sche Inschrift zu Ehren Johann Gutenbergs," by Gustave Conrad; "Der Drucker und die Ausgaben der Kölner Bilderbibel," by Georg Gerlach, with a plate; "Feuerversicherung von Bibliotheken," by Adolf Schmidt, with a note on the subject by Hermann Markgraf, and additional information by J. Lecke; "Grundlegung zu einer Theorie des systematischen Katalogs," by G. Focke; and "Hütet Euch vor den Katzen," a description of a woodcut of the 16th century, by W. L. Schreiber. (12+84 p. pl. 8°, pap., 5 marks.

AN interesting bibliographic nugget is "Contributions to the bibliography of the 'Lettres Edifiantes,'" by Victor Hugo Paltsits, of the staff of the New York Public Library, and bibliographic adviser to the editor of the "Jesuit Relations," published by the Burrows Brothers Company. Indeed, the pamphlet referred to above is a dainty separate reprint of Mr. Paltsits's contribution to volume lxvi. of "The Jesuit Relations and Allied Documents," issued under the scholarly editorship of R. G. Thwaites. Notwithstanding Mr. Paltsits's modest disclaimer, he has described exhaustively the thirty-four volumes of the first Paris edition, (1702-1776,) of these interesting documents; the Paris edition of 1780-1783, edited by Yves Mathurin Marie de Querbeuf; the Toulouse edition, 1810-1811; the Lyons edition of 1819; the Aimé-Martin edition, 1838-1843; the German translation of Joseph Stöcklem and his successors, 1726-1761; and the Spanish translation of Father Diego Davin, 1753-1757. Besides these, the author notes the condensed editions of and extracts from the "Lettres Edifiantes," a Polish version, and the continuations, one of which is still being issued serially. Reference is made to a number of editions that were known to Mr. Paltsits, but which he had no opportunity of examining. The work is carefully done and gives evidence of considerable research. (41 p. 8°, 15 copies printed for private distribution.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Joseph Baer, 6 Hochstr., Frankfurt, a. M., Monumenta Typographica Vetustissima, early printed books. ANACONDA, MONT.—L. A. King, bookseller, has gone out of business.

BEAVER, PA.—The Commoner Publishing Company has been granted a charter.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—C. L. Legerton, bookseller and stationer, has removed to much larger quarters, at 265 King Street.

COLUMBIA, MISS.—George W. Burroughs, bookseller, has assigned.

NEW YORK CITY.—Judge Bischoff, of the Supreme Court, on June 14, granted an order dissolving the University Magazine Company, and appointed Ruford Franklin permanent receiver.

NEW YORK CITY.—The San Francisco publishing house of William Doxey has removed to this city, at offices No. 15 East Seventeenth Street. Mr. Doxey was the publisher of The Lark, through whose pages Gelett Burgess introduced the "Purple Cow."

NEW YORK CITY.—Deputy Sheriff Roberts received an execution June 19 for $5598 against the Manhattan Press Publishing Company, printers and publishers, at Nos. 13 and 15 Vandewater Street, in favor of Charles W. Haring, on two notes of the company, one dated December 1, 1899, for $3360, payable in thirty days, and the other dated May 17, 1900, for $2212 payable on demand. The company was incorporated on December 10, 1898, with a capital stock of $50,000, W. H. Stelle being the president. The company has been practically out of business for a month, and another concern has succeeded to the business.

PERRY, OKLA.—D. Shanafeldt has retired from the firm of J. E. Shanafeldt & Brothers, booksellers and stationers. The business will be continued by the senior member of the firm in a new store on the north side of the square. D. Shanafeldt has enlisted for the Philippines. He served with the Rough Riders in Cuba.

ROME, N. Y.—Dr. Linton Greenfield's stock of books has been damaged by fire.

TOPEKA, KAN.—The Moore Book and Stationery Company has been awarded the contract for supplying the State stationery this year.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A certificate of incorporation of the Bureau of National Literature and Art has been placed on record in the office of the Recorder of Deeds. The objects of the corporation are stated to be buying and obtaining copyrights; buying or manufacturing stereotype plates; publishing and selling works of historical, political, scientific, or artistic merit. The capital stock is stated to be $25,000 and the incorporators are: James S. Barcus Indiana; Rudolph J. Bodiner, and Harry Lamson. District of Columbia, who constitute the board of trustees.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE works of John Ruskin are soon to be published in their entirety in the French language.

THE National Convention of Newsdealers will be held in Newark, N. J., on August 21 and 22.

It is likely that Miss Jeanette L. Gilder will dramatize "Black Rock," Ralph Connor's vivid portrayal of the Rocky Mountain mining camps.

WILLIAM M. BAINS, head of the book department of Strawbridge & Clothier, Philadelphia, will retire July 1. He is not yet ready to announce his future plans.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have just ready a new novel by Fergus Hume, entitled "Bishop Pendle." The scene is laid in the ecclesiastical society of a small English Cathedral city.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish next week Dr. Barton's new novel, "Pine Knot," a story of the Kentucky mountaineers during the civil war, with illustrations by Frank T. Merrill.

W. B. SAUNDERS & Co., Philadelphia, have just ready a work on "Fractures," by Dr. Carl Beck, the celebrated surgeon. The volume also contains a chapter on the practical use of the Röntgen Rays.

SIGNORINA PAOLA LOMBROSO, who has just published a book on the "Problem of Happiness," is a daughter of Professor Lombroso, the anthropologist. Miss Paola disagrees entirely with the views of her father.

PRESTON & ROUNDS, Providence, R. I., have just ready a work on "Early Connecticut Houses," an historical and architectural study by Norman M. Isham and Albert F. Brown. The volume is illustrated with 100 drawings and also contains a map.

TRUSLOVE, HANSON & COMBA, New York, announce four more Bibelots as follows: (7), "Wit and Humor of Sydney Smith"; (8), "Johnsoniana"; (9), "Shelley's Poems"; and (10), "Love Verses of Elizabethan Period." Other volumes are in preparation.

THE CAMBRIDGE ENCYCLOPEDIA COMPANY, New York, will publish shortly an English translation, by William Maude, of Spartianus's "Life of the Emperor Adrian." The same house will also issue "The Fluctuations of Gold," by Baron Alexander von Humboldt, translated into English by William Maude.

THE NEALE COMPANY, Washington, D. C., will publish early in July, "Oliver Goldsmith, a study of his life and writings," by Colonel John A. Joyce. They will publish in the early fall the "Autobiography of Colonel Richard Malcolm Johnston," which is now running as a serial in The Conservative Review, published by the Neale Company.

PETER ECKLER, New York, announces that after July 1, the price will be advanced on the Dresden edition of "Robert G. Ingersoll's Complete Works" from $18 to $25 on the cloth bound edition, from $36 to $50 on the half calf, and from $75 to $100 on the full turkey morocco bindings. Up to that date there will be special discounts given on one or more sets.

A MAN who calls himself "J. Courtney," and has conducted "The Association of New York Writers," in Room 9, at No. 853 Broadway, is wanted by "more than fifty confiding young women with literary aspirations and trusting natures," according to The Author. He has got their manuscripts, and their advance fees for membership, and now he cannot be found.

BONNELL, SILVER & Co., of No. 24 West 22d Street, N. Y., have just ready an interesting and timely book for ocean voyagers, entitled "Old Ocean's Ferry: The Log of the Modern Mariner, the Transatlantic Traveller, and Quaint Facts of Neptune's Realm," compiled by John Colgate Hoyt. It contains old and useful information for nautical travel and strange features of the sea.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, have just published Archibald Claverling Gunter's new novel "The Princess of Copper," in which the scene shifts between the rough mining camps of the Rocky Mountains and the fashionable salons of New York City, and the new story is said to be equal in merit to "Miss Nobody of Nowhere," which had such a phenomenal success.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will shortly publish an attractive edition of the works of Hamilton Wright Mabie. They have in preparation a series to be entitled The Bookman Classics which is to include a carefully selected series of the world's best literature printed in superior style. The volumes already selected are Sterne's "Sentimental Journey," "Robinson Crusoe," "Hypatia," and Irving's "Sketch Book."

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish at an early date a biography of Joel Dorman Steele, the well-known educator and the author of a number of text-books on chemistry, astronomy, philosophy, physiology, geology, zoölogy and history. The book has been written by Mrs. George Archibald, with the approval of Mrs. Esther Baker Steele, widow of Dr. Steele, and will contain several interesting photographic illustrations.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish in this country a work entitled "The Life and Times of Queen Victoria." The first part telling of the domestic life of the Queen, is a posthumous work by Mrs. Oliphant; the second part will be a reprint of Mr. Robert Wilson's "Life and Times of Queen Victoria," with conspicuous additions, bringing the theme down to date. The illustrations have been selected from vast and varied collections.

THOMAS WHITTAKER is about to publish a theological work, entitled "The Problem of Final Destiny Studied in the Light of Revised Theological Statement," by Dr. Wm. B. Brown, for many years pastor of the First Congregational Church of Newark, N. J. At this time when the question of revision of creed and discipline is so much discussed this book will help many by its enlightened and judicious discussion of a number of questions of doctrinal importance.

A BOSTON bookseller has made the remarkable discovery that "Whenever the factories are running full time, whenever employers and workmen are busy, whenever there is plenty of money, our business drops and we do little. My best sales for the last ten years were during the years of what is known as financial depression. People had time to read. When everybody is busy there is no opportunity of reading books." How this man must revel in Hard Times!

HENRY HOLT & Co. expect to issue within the month an important work, "Memory," an inductive study by Prof. F. W. Colegrove, of the University of Washington, with an introduction by President G. Stanley Hall, of Clark University. This book is said to be suitable for the general reader of psychological literature, but especially for teachers, and to contain a large amount of interesting material, over a third of which is new, collected from many people in many places, but especially in hospitals and schools.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish, June 27, a volume, entitled "China, the Long-Lived Empire," by Miss E. R. Scidmore, who was one of the secretaries of the Oriental Congress in Rome last year. Miss Scidmore, who during the last fifteen years has made no less than seven visits to China, will be recalled as the author of "Alaska, the Southern Coast, and the Sitkan Archipelago," "Jinrikisha Days in Japan," "Westward to the Far East," "From East to West," "Guide to Alaska and the Northwest Coast," and "Java, the Garden of the East."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have in preparation a novel, entitled "The Lady of Dreams," by Miss Silberrad, author of "The Enchanter," which may be ready in August. In September they expect to publish a new volume of short stories by Joel Chandler Harris, entitled "On the Wing of Occasions" which chiefly concern episodes in the civil war. Later in the fall they will publish Booker T. Washington's autobiography; "Newest England," a study, by Henry D. Lloyd, of the development of the colonies which make up the commonwealth of the Pacific now that Australian Federation is practically an accomplished fact; also, "Under the Great Bear," a story of Newfoundland, by Kirk Munroe.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just ready an interesting volume, entitled "Paris as Seen and Described by Famous Writers," edited and translated by Ester Singleton, author of "A Guide to the Opera," etc. The volume describes almost every point of importance in Paris, and has been appropriately illustrated with well-chosen views of the points described in the text. The volume forms a desirable supplement to the guide book as it replaces its dry statements of facts with something of greater artistic and literary merit. They have also just ready a fourth edition, revised and enlarged, of Patterson DuBois's "The Point of Contact in Teaching;" and Mrs. Meynell's biography of John Ruskin.

MARLIER, CALLANAN & Co., Boston, have just ready a new story by Christian Reid (Mrs. Frances C. Tiernan,) entitled "Weighed in the Balance." The story traces the development under the influence of love, sorrow, and disappointment of the character of a young girl reared with the loftiest ideals, who finds, when brought into contact with the world, that its motives and standards are in direct contradiction to her own. Glimpses of the better side of Bohemian life in Paris, and of American society, lend color to the narrative. They announce for early publication "Cithara Mea," by the Rev. P. A. Sheehan, author of "My New Curate." A limited number of copies of an edition de grand luxe will also be prepared of this volume and sold by subscription.

THE WEST PUBLISHING Co., St. Paul, Minn., has just published a new edition of the Hon. Cushman K. Davis's interesting work, "The Law in Shakespeare." The work was first issued in 1883, and has long been out of print. The new edition contains an introductory essay in which, incidentally, the author turns the shafts of his eloquent logic against the Baconians. The work contains a collection of the specific instances in which legal terms are used with technical correctness in Shakespeare's plays and sonnets, the quoted passages being illuminated by the legal definitions and comments by Senator Davis, who points out that the aptness and freedom with which legal phraseology is used by Shakespeare has been equaled by no other writer except the Jurists.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in press a work on "Historical Jurisprudence," by Guy Carleton Lee of the historical department of Johns Hopkins University. It is intended to serve as an introduction to the systematic study of the growth of law. The contributions of each race to the science of jurisprudence are traced from the earliest records that have come to light in the valleys of Euphrates, the Tigris, and the Nile. The contributions to the science of law made by each people are clearly traced; not merely as laws, but as fundamental components of national life. Law is treated from its historic, social, and economic standpoint, and it is shown that a nation's law must be studied if its progress and status would be understood. The author has based his work on original research.

HARPER & BROTHERS have in press a volume by General George A. Forsyth, entitled "Thrilling Days in Army Life," in which the author will describe the part the United States Army has taken in the Civil War and along the frontier with the Indians; "His Wisdom the Defender," a novel, the hero of which is the inventor of an airship, by Dr. Simon Newcomb, the well-known American astronomer. They have in preparation an important book of travels in "Climbing and Exploration in the Bolivian Andes," by Sir William Martin Conway, who in this book covers the political as well as the natural aspects of South America; also, "Roggie and Reggie Stories," a new book for children, by Gertrude Smith, somewhat along the lines of the "Arabella and Araminta Stories," which will be elaborately illustrated in color. Roggie and Reggie, it may be interesting to learn, are the small brothers of Araminta and Arabella.

AUCTION SALES.

[Under this heading advance notices will be inserted, without charge, of book auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon to insure insertion in the same week's issue.]

JUNE 21, 22, 3 P. M.—Miscellaneous old and new books. (544 lots.)—Bangs. This will be the last sale of the season.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

JUST PUBLISHED:*ARCHIBALD CLAVERING GUNTER'S NEW NOVEL*THE PRINCESS OF COPPER

THIS story, like Mr. Gunter's MISS NOBODY OF NOWHERE, which had such a phenomenal success, is a series of most exciting and fascinating pictures of both the salons of New York society, and the rough-and-tumble mining camps of the West. ¶ We have no hesitation in saying that some of the episodes, such as: "The Green Stained Cañon;" "The Angel of the Wood-pile;" and "Why Are You a Mormon?" are probably as unique, exquisite, and powerful as any, either in fact or fiction.

It is divided into five books:

BOOK I. The Rocky Mountains.      BOOK III. A New York Young Lady.
 BOOK II. The Waldorf-Astoria.      BOOK IV. A Great City After Dark.
 BOOK V. Una and the Lion.

TWO NEW BOOKS

The demand for which indicates that they have struck a popular chord:

ROBERT TOURNAY

A Romance of the French Revolution

By WILLIAM SAGE

Illustrated. $1.50

Chicago Evening Post:

The author deserves great credit for the admirable manner in which he has suggested rather than portrayed the horror of the reign of terror; and healthy sentiment and adequate imagination characterize his work throughout.

KNIGHTS IN FUSTIAN

A War-Time Story of Indiana

By CAROLINE BROWN

Crown 8vo, $1.50

Indianapolis Journal:

Miss Caroline Brown has written a story dealing with the Knights of the Golden Circle, or, as she happily calls them, Knights of Fustian, and their doings. It is a well-written tale and extremely interesting. . . . The book is a curious blending of romance and history. It has the attraction of adventure and sentiment which belong to the one, and the facts which make the other.

THE
AT Popular Prices.

The Stokes Library of Fiction,

Issued in paper, at the popular price of 50 cents each, comprised entirely of books that have been successful when published in cloth at $1.25 or $1.50.

There are no experiments in the series; every book "in the line" is good and has been proved to be popular.

WOLFVILLE,

By ALFRED HENRY LEWIS,

was the first book of the series. When this was published three years ago it met with immediate and unmistakable success. The author's style was so vigorous and so appropriate to the scenes and the people treated, and his wit so fresh and original, that his work was placed at once in the front rank of books dealing with western life.

The second book (just issued) was "Many Cargoes," by W. W. JACOBS, the author of "More Cargoes."

This delightful book was also a success from its origin, and the many admirers of the author's quaint humor will be pleased to find this popular work in so cheap and desirable a style.

The next book in the series will be issued in August, and will be by the popular author, ROBERT BARR—"A Woman Intervenes." This is a delightful story of a modern woman journalist who goes to England and introduces the most advanced journalistic methods there.

Other volumes selected for the series are "The Master Craftsman," by Sir WALTER BESANT; "Zoraida," by WILLIAM LE QUEUX; and "Ashes of Empire," by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.

Special Juvenile Publications.

FATHER GOOSE: HIS BOOK.

Rhymes by L. FRANK BAUM. Pictures by W. W. DENSLOW. The juvenile sensation of 1899.

The fastest selling children's book of recent years. Five editions—15,000 each—in three months. Written for children, it makes "grown ups" laugh.

Size  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  inches; 112 pages; printed in three colors; decorated board covers; fancy wrapper; \$1.25.

THE SONGS OF FATHER GOOSE.

Rhymes by L. FRANK BAUM. Pictures by W. W. DENSLOW. Music by ALBERTA N. HALL.

This book contains twenty-six of the Father Goose rhymes set to delightful music, and accompanied by the appropriate pictures from the earlier publication. The music is inspiring, melodious, and written within the range of children's voices. Published June 9; first edition 5000; more than half sold in one week.

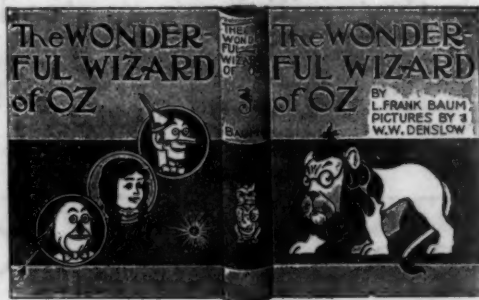

Uniform in size with "Father Goose." Bound in boards with cloth back; special cover and title-page designs by DENSLOW; fancy wrapper; $1.00.

READY SEPTEMBER 1.

THE WONDERFUL WIZARD OF OZ.

By L. FRANK BAUM. Illustrated by W. W. DENSLOW.

An original departure in children's literature. A "wonder-book" along new lines, containing characters never before conceived in a series of fascinating adventures. "The Wonderful Wizard" is in every way unique. The text is charming, and will prove highly entertaining to both young and old. Denslow's pictures surpass anything of the kind hitherto attempted. The text-illustrations—150—are printed in six different colors in accordance with a color-plan set forth in the story. There are twenty-four full-page pictures, inserts on enamelled paper, in eight colors. The cover, of specially made cloth, is elaborately stamped, and the edges are stained to harmonize with the binding.

Size,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 7$  inches; 261+24 pages; \$1.50.

Already, more than 60 days in advance of publication, we have booked orders for over 5000 copies of "The Wonderful Wizard."

THE ANIMAL ALPHABET.

By HENRY MORROW HYDE. Illustrated by photographs taken from life by CHARLES C. COOK.

Pictures of animals, one for each letter of the alphabet, appear on the right hand pages; underneath the pictures are quaintly funny rhymes printed from hand-lettered text, while on the opposite pages are printed simply-told descriptions of the animals. This book is of particular value as the pictures are from photographs—not from drawings. The animals are thus shown exactly as they are, not as an artist might see them.

Size,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  inches; ornamented boards; 64 pages enamelled paper; \$1.00. [Ready July 1st.]

THE ARMY ALPHABET. THE NAVY ALPHABET.

Rhymes by L. FRANK BAUM. Illustrations by HARRY KENNEDY. Hand lettering by C. J. COSTELLO.

These two books, to be published September 1st, will be exceedingly handsome and attractive. Of uniform size,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  inches, printed in four colors on heavy paper and strongly bound in ornamental boards, they will appeal especially to youngsters. Mr. Baum's rhymes are up to the standard set by himself in "Father Goose." Mr. Kennedy's pictures are of the highest merit, being both spirited and full of fun, while correct in all details of military and naval uniforms, equipments, etc.

Price, $1.00 per volume.

Eben Holden

By IRVING BACHELLER
the noted newspaper man

In demand from the very first announcement, which is not surprising because Eben Holden is a bright, witty story of the "North Country," of northern New York. Full of humor, human interest, clever characterization and lively incident, with powerful descriptions, never overdrawn, never overdone. Without a dull or heavy page, yet never silly nor too frivolous. Its good stories will be quoted far and wide. It has dramatic action, the Bull Run battle chapter exciting every old soldier, yet the love story is tender, interesting, and well sustained.

Indorsed by the leading critics

A book that will have a steady call

A handsomely bound 12mo.

Concerning Cats

By HELEN M. WINSLOW
the editor of "The Club Woman"

A book to appeal to the enormous number of cat lovers, every one of whom will buy it. From its 32 full-page photographic illustrations of cats, through cat stories and cat anecdotes, etc., remedies for cat ailments and instructions in the care of cats, it is interesting, amusing and instructive. Meets a demand long felt. All about all sorts of cats—Julia Marlowe's cat, the New York Sun "office cat," cats curious, beautiful or famous.

With strikingly decorated cover. 8vo.
